A. Product Description

A Factor 12x Short Certificate provides a leveraged exposure to the daily price performance of the Underlying by applying a constant Leverage Factor of 12 between two Relevant Business Days. With a Factor 12x Short Certificate the investor profits from falling prices of the Underlying. The leverage effect allows for disproportionately high gains but also for disproportionately high losses and does not prevent a total loss of the capital invested. Each time the Observation Price of the Underlying breaches a specific Reset Threshold, a Reset Event will be deemed to have occurred. Due to possible intra-day Reset Events, losses in excess of the set Reset Threshold can be mitigated. Upon the occurrence of a Reset Event the Leverage Factor is reset to 12 until the next Reset Event or the next Relevant Business Day whichever comes first. A Factor Certificate can be used as short term trading instrument. A Factor Certificate does not have a fixed Expiration Date.

B. Prospects for Profits and Losses

Market expectation

A Factor Short Certificate offers the possibility to benefit from the daily price performance of the Underlying with a leverage effect. Investors in a Factor Short Certificate expect the Underlying to be in a distinct downtrend. A Factor Short Certificate is suitable for investors having an investment horizon of a few minutes, a day (intraday) or up to a maximum of 2 or 3 days. It is not intended to be a buy and hold product over an intermediate or long time period.

Risk tolerance

Due to the leverage effect, the value of the Factor Short will fluctuate more than the value of the Underlying. An investment in a Factor Short therefore bears a higher risk than a direct one to one short investment in the Underlying. Investors in this product should be experienced investors being familiar with derivative products, leverage and the Underlying and should only dedicate a minor portion of their investment capacity. Investors are willing to take a higher risk compared with a direct one to one short investment in the Underlying in order to achieve a higher profit potential.

A Factor Short Certificate can lose disproportionately if the Underlying develops sideways. Investors who hold a Factor Short Certificate for longer than one trading day may see their results vary significantly from the performance of the Underlying.

Profits potential

A Factor Short Certificate benefits disproportionately from a negative downtrend of the Underlying. Investors benefit from a distinct downtrend of the Underlying. The profit potential for a Factor Short is limited given the Underlying cannot go below zero.

Loss potential

Holders may lose some or all of their invested capital but the maximum loss is limited to the initial capital invested. If the Underlying does not move, a Factor Short Certificate loses value over time. A sideways trend of the Underlying can have a negative effect on the performance of the Factor Short Certificate. The risk for an investment in a Factor Short Certificate is significantly greater than it would be for a direct one to one short investment. The Issuer has the right to early terminate the Factor Short Certificate by giving notice to the Investor, and in such case, the redemption value can be significantly less than the initial invested capital and /or the termination can occur at an unfavourable time for the investor. Please also review the Early Redemption and Issuer and Guarantor Risk factors below.

C. Significant Risks for Investors

General

An investment in the Certificates involves a high degree of risk, which may include, among others, price risks associated with the Underlying(s), interest rate, foreign exchange, market, time value and political risks.

Potential investors must have the knowledge and experience necessary to enable them to evaluate the risks and merits of an investment in the Certificates. Prospective investors should determine, based on their own independent review and such professional advice (including, without limitation, tax, accounting, credit, legal and regulatory advice) as they deem appropriate under the circumstances, that the acquisition and holding of the Certificates (i) is fully consistent with their financial needs, objectives and condition, (ii) complies and is fully consistent with all investment policies, guidelines and restrictions applicable to them and (iii) is a fit, proper and suitable investment for them, notwithstanding the clear and substantial risks inherent in investing in or holding the Certificates. In making such determination, an investor should consider carefully all the information set forth in the Final Terms and the Base Prospectus.

No Capital Protection

The Certificates are not capital protected at any time. There is a risk of partial or total capital loss, and therefore an investment in the Certificates is highly speculative, involving significant risk, including the possible loss of the amount invested, and should therefore only be considered by persons who can afford a loss of their entire investment.

Share Linked Risks

An investment in Certificates linked to Shares entails significant risks not associated with an investment in a conventional debt security. On redemption, Holders will receive an amount (if any) determined by reference to the value of the Underlying and the leverage. Accordingly, an investment in the Certificates may bear higher market risks compared with a direct equity investment and investors should take advice accordingly. The Issuers of the Shares will not have participated in the preparation of the Final Terms or in establishing the terms of the Certificates, and none of the Issuer, the Guarantor, the Calculation Agent or the Principal Security Agent will make any investigation or enquiry in connection with such offering with respect to any information concerning any Share issuer contained in the Final Terms or in the documents from which such information was extracted. Consequently, there can be no assurance that all events occurring prior to the Issue Date will have been publicly disclosed. Subsequent disclosure of any such events or the disclosure of or failure to disclose material future events concerning any Share issuer could affect the trading price of the Shares and therefore the trading price of the Certificates.

Early Redemption

The Terms and Conditions in the Base Prospectus provide for early redemption on the occurrence of force majeure, illegality and certain other events affecting the Underlying and/or the hedge, whereupon the Calculation Agent shall calculate the fair market value of each Certificate less the cost to the Issuer and/or its affiliates of unwinding any underlying related hedging arrangements, all as determined by the Calculation Agent in its sole and absolute discretion. Payment will be made in such manner as shall be notified to Holders in accordance with Condition 10 of the Certificates as set out in the Base Prospectus.

The amount that Holders receive as a consequence of such early redemption may be less than the initial capital invested per Certificate and even zero. Holders who choose to reinvest monies received as a consequence of early redemption of the Certificates may be able to do so only in securities with a lower yield than the redeemed Certificates.

Issuer and Guarantor Risk

Certificates are unsecured obligations: The Certificates retention of value is dependent not only on the development of the value of the Underlying(s), but also the creditworthiness of the Issuer and the Guarantor, which may change over the term of the product. The Certificates are direct unsecured obligations of the Issuer and will rank pari passu with all other direct unsecured obligations of the Issuer. The obligations of the Guarantor under the Guarantee are unsecured obligations of the Guarantor and will rank pari passu with all its other present and future unsecured obligations, subject as may from time to time be mandatory under French law.

In addition, the Issuer's and the Guarantor's ability to fulfil their obligations under the Certificates may be affected by certain other factors, including liquidity risks, market risks, credit risks, cross-border and foreign exchange risks, operational risks, legal and regulatory risks and competition risks.

Secondary Market Risks

Under normal market conditions, the market maker appointed by the Issuer intends but is not obliged to maintain a secondary market on a regular basis throughout the life of the product. Neither the Issuer nor the Guarantor nor the market maker appointed by the Issuer is under any obligation to provide bid- or ask-prices for a specific order or volume and there is no commitment on a specific liquidity or on a specific market making spread. Hence investors cannot rely on being able to purchase or sell the product on a specific date or at a specific price.

Market Risk

The market value of, and expected return on, the Certificates may be influenced by a number of factors, some or all of which may be unpredictable (and which may offset or magnify each other), such as (i) the development of the value of the Underlying(s) (ii)

economic, financial, political and regulatory or judicial events that affect the Issuer, the Guarantor, the Underlying(s) or financial markets generally, (iii) interest and yield rates in the markets generally, (iv) the time remaining until the Redemption Date and (vi) the creditworthiness of the Issuer and the Guarantor.

Additional Risks

In addition, investors should read the section in the Base Prospectus entitled 'Risk Factors'.
